GOT HIS PAY IN GOLD

How a Free Silver Man Was Taught a Lesson.

HE THOUGHT IT WAS NOT USED

A Potter Had Been Making Converts to
His Cause When the Unexpected Happened,
and the Tide Turned the Other Way--An Object Lesson.

Free silver has its advocates in East
Liverpool, and some of the arguments
they put up are at times so amusing as to cause many a laugh at their expense.
Not long ago a missionary society, connected with one of the leading churches
of the city, decided to raise a given amount for the purpose of educating the heathen. In order to arouse the enthusiasm of the members and pay them for the labor of collecting the funds, it was decided to present each one with a gold dollar
when the books of the secretary would show $5 to the credit of the solicitor. It happened that the originators of the idea were not close students of the financial question, and were unacquainted
with the fact that gold dollars were a very scarce article. They did not know that many of those coined by the government had been withdrawn from circulation, and were doing duty on the wrist and neck of society as bangles.
When they sought prizes for their successful collectors the prizes could not be found, and it was necessary to abandon the idea. In some manner the story came to the ear of a silver man. In it he saw an opportunity to spread his doctrine, and he proceeded to relate the story, always adding that gold was out of circulation, and it was impossible to get even a dollar of the yellow metal.
The incident upon the face of it seemed so plausible that he soon began making converts at the pottery where he is employed, and a few Republicans who knew gold was in circulation decided to give him a lesson. They conferred with the paymaster at the plant, and the matter was arranged. When the silver man drew his pay last Saturday
he was surprised to find that the envelope contained nothing but bright, shining gold. He was astonished, and could scarcely repress the laugh of his Republican friends, who watched his discomfiture with amusement. But that was not all. Other potters, men who had been converted by the silver advocate,
also found gold in their envelopes, and at the rate of paper or silver. The argument of the silver man that gold had been withdrawn from circulation and was at a premium was knocked out at a single blow, and the Republicans predict
there will be less animated discussions
of the financial question at that pottery
in the future.

The story is vouched for by those who are in position to know. It is a fair sample of the argument of the silver people,
and is an excellent example of the manner in which their theories are being overthrown.

KEEPING THEIR WOOL.

The Farmers Are Not Selling It This Year.

A leading farmer of the county is responsible for the statement that very little Columbian wool has been sold this year. The farmers believe the ridiculously low price offered by the eastern buyers will be increased after the election of McKinley, and some of them are able to hold the clip until that time. The principal reason, he said, was the small demand for wool. There have been fewer buyers in the county
this summer than in many years, and local agents are not anxious to take in a large supply.

TO DECIDE TONIGHT.

The Soldiers May Act as Escort For the Governor.

Company E has been invited to march
with the political and social clubs in the Wednesday evening parade, the opinion being that Governor Bushnell should have a military escort. The company will decide this evening. It has also been suggested that the boys appear in their new uniforms, but in the absence of Captain Hill this will probably not be done. The last box sent from Columbus was opened yesterday, and found to contain enough of the latest combination haversacks and knapsacks to supply the command.

THE LINE OF MARCH.

Arrangements Completed for the Bushnell Reception.

Arrangements for the reception of Governor Bushnell have been completed.
The parade will form on Fifth street
near the quarters of the McKinley club,
and the line of march will be to Market,
to Sixth, to Washington, to Fourth, to Market, to Fifth, to Monroe, to Sixth, to the residence of Col. J. N. Taylor.

The reception committee is made up of Mayor Gilbert, D. F. Nellis, W. V.
Blake, Charles Hanley, John S. Goodwin,
R. H. Everson, Joshua Poole. All other social and benevolent organizations not represented on the committee are urged to join in the reception. The aides will report to W. V. Blake at McKinley
headquarters at 7:30 o'clock, Wednesday evening.

A HOT DAY.

Sunday Was a Scorch in Every Sense of the Word.

Sunday was a scorcher. Old Sol was eclipsed, and sent a long shadow from a point in the North sea to another point in the Pacific ocean, but he was making up for it by pouring the hottest kind of sunshine on this side of the world. Thermometers in different parts of the city
registered from 92 to 96, and the humidity of the atmosphere made life almost unbearable. Services in almost all the churches were slimly attended, the streets were almost deserted, and the city seemed engaged in the laudable task of attempting to keep cool.

WILL BE A BIG DAY.

But the McKinley Marching Club Will not be Present.

The McKinley marching club is expected to be the best thing in its line
the city ever saw, and some members
are sorry the movement was not started in time to have the club well drilled before the opening of the campaign in Columbus. That will be the greatest political event the capital ever saw, and clubs from all the state will be there.
The local organization missed a good chance to advertise the city, but as one of the members remarked there will be
other meetings and other opportunities.

WILL BE FINAL.

The Recommendation of the Board of Pardons in the Wintergill Case.

Robert Hailes is busy securing letters to present to the board of pardons when the application of Ralph Wintergill is considered Aug. 27. The letters tell the story of the crime for which Wintergill
is serving a life sentence, and urge that he be kept in confinement. An interview was asked of the the governor
when he comes to the city next Wednesday, but he referred Mr. Hailes to the board, thus intimating that he would be guided by their action.

STOPPED THE SURREY.

A Peculiar Accident at Washington and Fifth Streets.

A farmer drove up the Washington
hill on Saturday evening, and a wagon
came out of Fifth street when he reached the corner. A street car was rounding
the curve on Sixth street, and the colored man who drove the wagon was anxious to cross the track. Watching the car he did not notice the farmer, and there was a collision. The pole of the wagon went through a wheel of the surrey, and it became fastened, bringing both teams to a sudden stop.

FAMILY REUNIONS.

The Albrights Meet Tomorrow and the Fredericks Meet Next Week.

The reunion of the Albright family will be held tomorrow at the home of Corwin Stokesberry in Middleton township. All members of the family from the city will attend.

The Frederick family will hold their annual reunion at the residence of R. G.
Eells in Lisbon Aug. 19. Members of the family from this city will attend.

NO FAST DRIVING.

The Police Made Another Man Remember
the Law.

Daniel King was summoned before Mayor Gilbert this morning to answer
a charge of fast driving preferred against him by Chief Johnson. King was driving on Second street Saturday evening at a faster gait than that allowed by the law. He was fined $5.00 and arranged to pay the amount. This is the second time King has been fined
for an offense of this kind.

BROKE HIS ARM.

A Window Fell Upon Charles Beatty Sunday Afternoon.

Charles Beatty, a nine-year-old boy who resides in Paradise alley with his parents, was hanging on the window sill
yesterday afternoon, when the sash fell.
One arm was lacerated, and the bones
broken. The boy was taken to a doctor, and the fracture reduced. He is much better today.

Trains Delayed.

The train west was delayed here
for 10 minutes this morning by a hot box.

The noon train was 25 minutes late when it left Irondale today, because of a large shipment of tin by express.

A BIG BOLT DROPPED

And the Barn of Hildray Wilson
Was Consumed.

GEORGE POPP'S HORSE KILLED

Lightning Was Responsible For Losses
Last Night and This Morning--The Storm
Passed Northeast of the City--A Little Wind.

The electrical storm that passed over the city last night will go down in history as one of the worst of the season,
while the storm of this morning will be remembered for the damage it caused.

Early last evening great banks of black clouds came over the Virginia
hills and passed over other storm clouds that had been forming in the northeast for several hours. The electrical display was brilliant, and the continuous flashing of the lightning illuminated the country for miles. No rain fell here, but in the vicinity of Smith's Ferry and Ohioville there was a heavy downpour. A strong wind was blowing high in the air, for the clouds could be seen moving at a rapid speed, but scarcely a breeze could be felt on the earth.

A party of campers on the farm of Hildray Wilson, near Ohioville, watched the storm with interest. When it was at its height, and the whole country was almost as light as day, they saw a broad shining bolt drop straight
from a great black cloud, and strike Mr.
Wilson's big barn. In an instant the whole roof was ablaze, and the campers
saw that the fire could not be extinguished. The barn burned in a short time, and the newly gathered crops were destroyed. The damage could not be learned. Mr. Wilson is a wealthy farmer, and was the victim of lightning a year ago when his house was struck and burned. Four buildings have been burned on that farm within six years.

George Popp, is the name of a farmer who resides near Dry Run. He had loaded his wagon with garden truck,
and was about to start for town when
the storm broke, and he decided to wait until it was over. The team were driven to the barn yard, and left in charge of the man employed by Popp. They were there but a moment when the lightning came. One horse was killed and the other knocked down, while the hired man and Mrs. Popp were so shocked that they also fell. The injured persons had recovered this afternoon, and felt no ill
effects from the shock.

It was said this morning that the barn
on the farm of Mr. Spearheath, near Fairview, was struck last night, and burned down.

MRS. WRIGHT DEAD.

Typhoid Fever In Its Worst Form Was
the Cause.

Mrs. Hilda Wright died at her home in Gardendale Saturday afternoon from an attack of typhoid fever. Deceased had been ill but a short time, and had
the disease in its most malignant form.
Mrs. Wright leaves a husband and five children. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon, and interment was in Riverside.

A child of Mr. and Mrs. William Headley, of the East End, died Sunday evening, and will be interred in Spring
Grove cemetery this afternoon.

POLES ON FIFTH.

Councilmen Want no Obstructions on That Street.

Manager Gilchrist and Chairman
Kent, of the street committee, took a journey around the city this morning
looking over the places where the telephone company propose to erect new poles. The company are desirous of running a line of poles along Fifth street,
but it is very doubtful whether the street committee will grant them the required permission. They are anxious to keep that thoroughfare as free from poles as possible.

PAINTED BLACK.

Newsies Initiated a New Man in Due Form
This Morning.

One small boy is glad that his first day
as a newsie, is almost finished. This morning when he appeared at the train to get his papers the newsies gathered around him, and after bumping him up and down on the platform, tied him to a post and painted his face with black lead. This form of initiation has become a regular thing for the newsies, and the new boy is always glad when the first few hours of his apprenticeship is ended.

HELD FOR COURT.

William Tucker Charged With Destroying Property.

William Tucker, who was arrested
some time ago, charged with maliciously destroying property belonging to the ice company, and released on bail
until the matter could be brought to trial, was summoned before Squire Morley this morning. He waived a hearing, and was bound over to court in the sum of $200.

The suit of the Pittsburgh Computing company against E. H. Laughlin for $61, was heard by Squire Manley this morning, and the decision withheld until Wednesday.

The lawyers are all back in their offices
today, and business in the local courts is booming. The accumulated cases of the past few weeks will soon be disposed of.

BAD ROADS.

The Rains Have Made Them Almost Impassable.

Complaint was made to the township
trustees this morning about the bad condition of the Wellsville road, it being claimed that it was impossible to go over the road with a heavy wagon. The trustees informed the complainant that the street railway company are expected to repair the road within the next six months, and they had nothing to do with it.

Other roads leading out of the city are in equally poor condition. In Madison and St. Clair townships the dirt has been washed from the roads, and they are nothing but paths strewn with stones.

MAY CANCEL MEADVILLE.

The Football Team May Play With Oakmont.

Manager Stevenson received a letter from the Oakmont football club this morning wanting to play the Eclipse team on Sept. 26, and as better terms are offered than Meadville is willing to give, it is probable the Meadville game will be cancelled.

Fred Thomas, for three years quarterback of the Ohio State university team,
is the guest of Captain Snediker and will occupy a position on the team when the season opens.

LICENSES FOR LIVERPOOL.

Permits Were Taken Out in Lisbon To-
day.

Marriage licenses were issued in Lisbon today to Harry D. Moore and Miss Ida Heath, and to Walter M. Gray and Miss Martha M. Eoff, all of this city.

Members of the Salvation Army are arranging for an hallelujah wedding at the barracks on Thursday evening. The ceremony will be performed by Adjutant Jenkins, the new commander of the Northern Ohio district. The names of the happy couple have not yet been given out.

PACKET WATER.

Rivermen Expect a Boating Stage the Best of the Year.

The heavy fall of rain served to swell
the river, and the belief is expressed now that the river will remain navigable during the entire year. The Ben Hur passed down shortly after noon, with a good cargo. The Keystone is due down for Cincinnati at 9 o'clock this evening.
Little freight is being put off at the wharfbat these days, but a revival in business is anticipated soon.

To Cincinnati.

When the Virginia left the wharf for Cincinnati on Saturday evening in carried the following persons: H. K.
Hoover, Alliance; W. C. Smith and Mr.
and Mrs. Johnston, of this city. Mrs.
Fred Pennington and children will leave
this evening on the Keystone.

In a New Position.

Will Swaney spent yesterday at the home of his father on Fifth street. He has been in the employ of the Bell Telephone company at Wheeling, but was recently made manager at Sistersville.
He took up his duties in that place to-
day.

Quarreled Over Beer.

A lad named Heckathorn and a companion were quarrelling on Washington street over a growler of beer, and probably would have come to blows had not Chief Johnson happened along, and bade them be quiet under pain of arrest.

Will Resign His Position.

Jesse C. Smith, the recording secretary of the Grocery Clerks' union, will be compelled to resign his office. He severed his connection with a local grocery, and intends to locate in Chicago.

A Temperance Rally.

A meeting to further the cause of temperance will be held in the Second U. P. church tomorrow evening. An interesting program has been prepared for the occasion.

A Rumor.

Rumor has it that a well known potter,
who recently left the city for a short visit, will upon his return be accompanied by a bride.

ASSAULTED A WOMAN

A Man in Light Clothes
Knocked Her Down.

SHE WOULD NOT TELL HER NAME

A Mystery at the Old Cemetery--Cries for Help Brought a Crowd in Time to See a Curious Happening--No Explanation
Could be Found.

Parties living near the old cemetery
are endeavoring to unravel a mystery
which caused a great commotion last night.

It was after 11 o'clock when a well dressed woman turned into the alley near the Sixth street school. She had taken only a few steps when a man appeared, and caught her around the waist. She cried for help at the top of her voice, but the man quickly covered her mouth with his hand, and dragged her toward the cemetery. The woman continued to struggle, but the man was strong, and she could not get away.
When they reached the cemetery he threw her down, and finding he had removed his hand she yelled murder, and staggered to her feet. Again was she thrown down, and again did she try to escape. This time her screams were heard, and people hurrying to the spot saw another man come from the cemtery. He attempted to rescue the woman from the other's grasp, but the brute with her knocked her down, and then running through the cemetery went over the bank toward the flint mill.
Then the other man disappeared, and when the people who had heard the woman's screams arrived at the place
she was alone. When asked her name
she pretended not to hear, but said the man who assaulted her wore light clothes and she would know him if she saw him again. She claimed to know nothing of the other man, and then went home. She resides in West End,
but her name could not be learned.

BRYAN IN SALEM.

The Candidate Was Seen by a Big Crowd.

SALEM, Aug. 10. [Special]--The train bearing Hon. W. J. Bryan and his party passed through Salem this afternoon.
Mr. Bryan had sent word that he would not make a speech here, but there was a crowd of 300 at the station
when the train pulled in half an hour late. The train only stopped here a few minutes, and then went flying toward Pittsburg.

In Alliance.

ALLIANCE, Aug. 10. [Special]--Hon.
W. J. Bryan and his party passed through here this afternoon. A big crowd heard the silver man make a speech
from the car. The train is 30 minutes late.

AN EXPENSIVE SWIM.

Campers on Line Island Were Robbed
While Bathing.

The party of potters in camp on Line island went bathing yesterday afternoon, and left the tents without protection of any kind. When they returned it was to find their effects turned up side
down, and they were not long in discovering that they had been robbed. A hurried search showed that $60 in money
and been stolen, and the baggage had been ransacked. No provisions or other valuables were taken, and the thieves were evidently after money. The campers think they know the robbers,
and arrests will likely be made.

Toddix Given a Suit.

A letter received from George Carey states that he received a $50 suit of clothes for the home run he made last week. His wife will arrive here Thursday evening, and will spend several weeks visiting.

Many Shipments.

Earthenware shipments at the freight depot have taken an upward tendency
during the past few days, and the employees are kept busy loading cars.
Shipments of glass are few at present.

Entertaining His Friends.

Reverend Green, of the Second U. P. church, East End, will entertain the single members of his congregation at the parsonage this evening.

Another Derrick Here.

A new derrick for the bridge company arrived Saturday evening, and will be put into active service at once.

Married in Bellaire.

The friends of George Grim, a grocery clerk, have learned that he was recently married to Miss McGhie, of Bellaire.

BROKE HIS ARM.

A Window Fell Upon Charles Beatty Sunday Afternoon.

Charles Beatty, a nine-year-old boy who resides in Paradise alley with his parents, was hanging on the window sill yesterday afternoon, when the sash fell. One arm was lacerated, and the bones broken. The boy was taken to a doctor, and the fracture reduced. He is much better today.

Trains Delayed.

The train west was delayed here for 10 minutes this morning by a hot box.

The noon train was 25 minutes late when it left Irontown today, because of a large shipment of tin by express.

A BIG BOLT DROPPED

And the Barn of Hildray Wilson Was Consumed.

GEORGE POPP'S HORSE KILLED

Lightning Was Responsible For Losses Last Night and This Morning—The Storm Passed Northeast of the City—A Little Wind.

The electrical storm that passed over the city last night will go down in history as one of the worst of the season, while the storm of this morning will be remembered for the damage it caused.

Early last evening great banks of black clouds came over the Virginia hills and passed over other storm clouds that had been forming in the northeast for several hours. The electrical display was brilliant, and the continuous flashing of the lightning illuminated the country for miles. No rain fell here, but in the vicinity of Smith's Ferry and Ohioville there was a heavy downpour. A strong wind was blowing high in the air, for the clouds could be seen moving at a rapid speed, but scarcely a breeze could be felt on the earth.

A party of campers on the farm of Hildray Wilson, near Ohioville, watched the storm with interest. When it was at its height, and the whole country was almost as light as day, they saw a broad shining bolt drop straight from a great black cloud, and strike Mr. Wilson's big barn. In an instant the whole roof was ablaze, and the campers saw that the fire could not be extinguished. The barn burned in a short time, and the newly gathered crops were destroyed. The damage could not be learned. Mr. Wilson is a wealthy farmer, and was the victim of lightning a year ago when his house was struck and burned. Four buildings have been burned on that farm within six years.

George Popp, is the name of a farmer who resides near Dry Run. He had loaded his wagon with garden truck, and was about to start for town when the storm broke, and he decided to wait until it was over. The team were driven to the barn yard, and left in charge of the man employed by Popp. They were there but a moment when the lightning came. One horse was killed and the other knocked down, while the hired man and Mrs. Popp were so shocked that they also fell. The injured persons had recovered this afternoon, and felt no ill effects from the shock.

It was said this morning that the barn on the farm of Mr. Spearheath, near Fairview, was struck last night, and burned down.

MRS. WRIGHT DEAD.

Typhoid Fever In Its Worst Form Was the Cause.

Mrs. Hilda Wright died at her home in Gardendale Saturday afternoon from an attack of typhoid fever. Deceased had been ill but a short time, and had the disease in its most malignant form. Mrs. Wright leaves a husband and five children. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon, and interment was in Riverview.

A child of Mr. and Mrs. William Headley, of the East End, died Sunday evening, and will be interred in Spring Grove cemetery this afternoon.

POLES ON FIFTH.

Councilmen Want no Obstructions on That Street.

Manager Gilchrist and Chairman Kent, of the street committee, took a journey around the city this morning looking over the places where the telephone company propose to erect new poles. The company are desirous of running a line of poles along Fifth street, but it is very doubtful whether street committee will grant them the required permission. They are anxious to keep that thoroughfare as free from poles as possible.

PAINTED BLACK.

Newsies Initiated a New Man in Due Form This Morning.

One small boy is glad that his first day as a newsie, is almost finished. This morning when he appeared at the train to get his papers the newsies gathered around him, and after bumping him up and down on the platform, tied him to a post and painted his face with black lead. This form of initiation has become a regular thing for the newsies, and the new boy is always glad when the first few hours of his apprenticeship is ended.

HELD FOR COURT.

William Tucker Charged With Destroying Property.

William Tucker, who was arrested some time ago, charged with maliciously destroying property belonging to the ice company, and released on bail until the matter could be brought to trial, was summoned before Squire Morley this morning. He waived a hearing, and was bound over to court in the sum of $200.

The suit of the Pittsburg Computing company against E. H. Laughlin for $61, was heard by Squire Manley this morning, and the decision withheld until Wednesday.

The lawyers are all back in their offices today, and business in the local courts is booming. The accumulated cases of the past few weeks will soon be disposed of.

BAD ROADS.

The Rains Have Made Them Almost Impassable.

Complaint was made to the township trustees this morning about the bad condition of the Wellsville road, it being claimed that it was impossible to go over the road with a heavy wagon. The trustees informed the complainant that the street railway company are expected to repair the road within the next six months, and they had nothing to do with it.

Other roads leading out of the city are in equally poor condition. In Madison and St. Clair townships the dirt has been washed from the roads, and they are nothing but paths strewn with stones.

MAY CANCEL MEADVILLE.

The Football Team May Play With Oakmont.

Manager Stevenson received a letter from the Oakmont football club this morning wanting to play the Eclipse team on Sept. 26, and as better terms are offered than Meadville is willing to give, it is probable the Meadville game will be cancelled.

Fred Thomas, for three years quarterback of the Ohio State university team, is the guest of Captain Snediker and will occupy a position on the team when the season opens.

LICENSES FOR LIVERPOOL.

Permits Were Taken Out in Lisbon Today.

Marriage licenses were issued in Lisbon today to Harry D. Moore and Miss Ida Heath, and to Walter M. Gray and Miss Martha M. Eoff, all of this city.

Members of the Salvation Army are arranging for an hallelujah wedding at the barracks on Thursday evening. The ceremony will be performed by Adjutant Jenkins, the new commander of the Northern Ohio district. The names of the happy couple have not yet been given out.

PACKET WATER.

Rivermen Expect a Boating Season the Rest of the Year.

The heavy fall of rain served to swell the river, and the belief is expressed now that the river will remain navigable during the entire year. The Ben Hur passed down shortly after noon, with a good cargo. The Keystone is due down for Cincinnati at 9 o'clock this evening. Little freight is being put off at the wharves these days, but a revival in business is anticipated soon.

To Cincinnati.

When the Virginia left the wharf for Cincinnati on Saturday evening in carried the following persons: H. K. Hoover, Alliance; W. C. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Johnston, of this city. Mrs. Fred Pennington and children will leave this evening on the Keystone.

In a New Position.

Will Swaney spent yesterday at the home of his father on Fifth street. He has been in the employ of the Bell Telephone company at Wheeling, but was recently made manager at Sistersville. He took up his duties in that place today.

Quarreled Over Beer.

A lad named Heckathorn and a companion were quarrelling on Washington street over a growler of beer, and probably would have come to blows had not Chief Johnson happened along, and bade them be quiet under pain of arrest.

Will Resign His Position.

Jesse C. Smith, the recording secretary of the Grocery Clerks' union, will be compelled to resign his office. He severed his connection with a local grocery, and intends to locate in Chicago.

A Temperance Rally.

A meeting to further the cause of temperance will be held in the Second U. P. church tomorrow evening. An interesting program has been prepared for the occasion.

A Rumor.

Rumor has it that a well known potter, who recently left the city for a short visit, will upon his return be accompanied by a bride.

ASSAULTED A WOMAN

A Man in Light Clothes Knocked Her Down.

SHE WOULD NOT TELL HER NAME

A Mystery at the Old Cemetery—Cries for Help Brought a Crowd in Time to See a Curious Happening—No Explanation Could be Found.

Parties living near the old cemetery are endeavoring to unravel a mystery which caused a great commotion last night.

It was after 11 o'clock when a well dressed woman turned into the alley near the Sixth street school. She had taken only a few steps when a man appeared, and caught her around the waist. She cried for help at the top of her voice, but the man quickly covered her mouth with his hand, and dragged her toward the cemetery. The woman continued to struggle, but the man was strong, and she could not get away. When they reached the cemetery he threw her down, and finding he had removed his hand she yelled murder, and staggered to her feet. Again was she thrown down, and again did she try to escape. This time her screams were heard, and people hurrying to the spot saw another man come from the cemetery. He attempted to rescue the woman from the other's grasp, but the brute with her knocked her down, and then running through the cemetery went over the bank toward the flint mill. Then the other man disappeared, and when the people who had heard the woman's screams arrived at the place she was alone. When asked her name she pretended not to hear, but said the man who assaulted her wore light clothes and she would know him if she saw him again. She claimed to know nothing of the other man, and then went home. She resides in West End, but her name could not be learned.

BRYAN IN SALEM.

The Candidate Was Seen by a Big Crowd.

SALEM, Aug. 10.—[Special]—The train bearing Hon. W. J. Bryan and his party passed through Salem this afternoon. Mr. Bryan had sent word that he would not make a speech here, but there was a crowd of 300 at the station when the train pulled in half an hour late. The train only stopped here a few minutes, and then went flying toward Pittsburg.

In Alliance.

ALLIANCE, Aug. 10.—[Special]—Hon. W. J. Bryan and his party passed through here this afternoon. A big crowd heard the silver man make a speech from the car. The train is 30 minutes late.

AN EXPENSIVE SWIM.

Campers on Line Island Were Robbed While Bathing.

The party of potters in camp on Line island went bathing yesterday afternoon, and left the tents without protection of any kind. When they returned it was to find their effects turned up side down, and they were not long in discovering that they had been robbed. A hurried search showed that $60 in money and been stolen, and the baggage had been ransacked. No provisions or other valuables were taken, and the thieves were evidently after money. The campers think they know the robbers, and arrests will likely be made.

Toadix Given a Suit.

A letter received from George Carey states that he received a $50 suit of clothes for the home run he made last week. His wife will arrive here Thursday evening, and will spend several weeks visiting.

Many Shipments.

Earthenware shipments at the freight depot have taken an upward tendency during the past few days, and the employees are kept busy loading cars. Shipments of glass are few at present.

Entertaining His Friends.

Reverend Green, of the Second U. P. church, East End, will entertain the single members of his congregation at the parsonage this evening.

Another Derrick Here.

A new derrick for the bridge company arrived Saturday evening, and will be put into active service at once.

Married in Bellaire.

The friends of George Grim, a grocery clerk, have learned that he was recently married to Miss McGhie, of Bellaire.

THE Pittsburg Post seems to be employing all the expert mathematicians of Pennsylvania in a vain endeavor to show that William McKinley will not be president.

MCKINLEY is steadily gaining in the west, and if he does not capture a few of the states so loudly claimed by the Democrats there will be any number of astonished politicians near the Mississippi next November.

"ALL'S fair in politics," shouts the politician, but if it be true that the Democratic leaders are behind the Cleveland strike, in the hope of bringing Mark Hanna in disrepute with union men, and thus injure the cause of William McKinley, it is high time someone was being tried for conspiracy.

A GOOD MOVE. The glassworkers of Massillon are sensible men. They have not only decided to vote for McKinley, but are using every honorable means to have others of their craft do likewise. To them the past few years of Democratic power has been disastrous. They have suffered severely, and know that the new tariff law is responsible for their financial troubles. Realizing that in protection and honest money they can alone find prosperity they have taken up a work the influence of which will be felt in every community where glassworkers reside. A McKinley club of glassworkers has been organized, and so earnest are the members in their desire to support the candidacy of William McKinley that efforts are being made to form similar organizations throughout the country. There are several hundred thousand of the craft in the country, and they are scattered far and wide. To these men are being sent circulars showing the necessity of every glassworker casting his vote for protection, and there is little doubt that the glassworkers will be found on the right side next November. The tabling of the resolution endorsing free silver at the national meeting in Peoria was significant, and the work being done by the Massillon organization proves that they are alive to their own interests, and will aid the several millions of other voters to put Mr. Bryan and his craze in the background.

Congressman Apsley Will Retire. WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Representative L. D. Apsley, who has represented the Fourth congressional district of Massachusetts in the house during the fifty-third and the first session of the fifty-fourth congresses, has notified the managers of his district that he will not, under any circumstances, accept a renomination.

BRYAN ON THE WAY.

Continuous Ovation From Daylight This Morning.

REACHES PITTSBURG TO-NIGHT.

Demonstrations and Speeches at Canton and Other Places—They Attended Church in Chicago on Sunday—Received Visitors Before Going to the Train.

CANTON, O., Aug. 10.—The train bearing William J. Bryan, the Democratic candidate for president, and wife, Hon. R. P. Bland and wife, eastward to the notification meeting at New York, passed through here about 1:20. Quite a crowd was at the station and the Democratic candidate was given a demonstration. Mrs. Bryan is receiving almost as much attention as her husband. The party left Chicago at 11:30 last night. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan slept through Indiana, but were up when the train reached Lima at 7:45. A crowd was at the station despite the early hour. Mr. Bryan was recorded ovations and made speeches at Crestline, Mansfield, Wooster, Orrville and Massillon. Stops will be made at the different towns into Pittsburg, which will be reached about 6 o'clock.

MRS. WILLIAM J. BRYAN.

She is Receiving Almost as Much Attention as Her Husband.

The reception committee from Pittsburg boarded the train here to accompany the party to Pittsburg. On arriving there Mr. Bryan and the members of his party will be escorted to the Central hotel. At 7:45 p. m. Mr. Bryan and party, escorted by the Randall club and other political organizations, will leave the Central hotel and proceed to the opera house and the Avenue theater, where public meetings will be simultaneously held. Mr. Bryan will speak first at the opera house and Hon. Richard P. Bland will speak first at the Avenue theater. At the conclusion of Mr. Bland's speech at the Avenue theater Mr. Bryan will address the audience at the latter house, and Mr. Bland will address the opera house audience. Other speakers will likewise address those meetings. Mr. Bryan will then return to the hotel.

A Chicago special says: Thousands of enthusiastic free silver Democrats called at the Clifton House to see W. J. Bryan and his wife Sunday. They came with their wives and babies and children. But it was late in the afternoon before their desires were satisfied. In the first place, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan slept until the middle of the forenoon. They were weary and worn from the fatigues and hot weather of Saturday. Then they wanted to be prepared for the excitement of today. When they had breakfasted, they took a carriage and alone went to church. They drove to the Presbyterian church at Englewood, and listened to an orthodox sermon preached by the Rev. Dr. John Clark Hill. The divine did not know that the Democratic nominee and his wife were coming and two-thirds of the congregation went home after the services in utter ignorance of the fact that their house of worship had been honored by his presence. No reference was made to the political issues of the day by the preacher in his sermon, nor did he in his prayers mention the candidate or his cause.

One reason that Mr. and Mrs. Bryan attended services at Englewood church was because the Rev. Dr. Hill has accepted a call to act as pastor over the First Presbyterian church of Lincoln, of which Mr. and Mrs. Bryan are both members. They wanted to hear their new pastor. Mr. Hill is now pastor of the Presbyterian church at Austin, and he preached at Englewood as a "supply" during the absence of the regular pastor. All the while there were thousands of eager Democrats calling at the Clifton House to see their national leader, but they were disappointed. After returning to the hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan took dinner, and then took an afternoon nap, which lasted until near 6 o'clock in the evening. After that they went to the parlors and held an informal reception. The throng then began to pour in. The Democratic nominee and his wife were kept busy shaking hands, kissing babies and children until near the time for their departure. It is estimated that 150,000 people lined the way from the depot to the Clifton house, in this city, when Mr. and Mrs. Bryan traversed the way. Mr. Bryan's speech from the balcony was received with wild enthusiasm.

HANNA GOES TO CHICAGO. Major Dick Also Leaves to Take Charge of Headquarters.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10.—Chairman Hanna, of the Republican National committee, left at midnight for Chicago to give his attention to the western campaign. He said that he understood there was plenty of work awaiting him, he having received word to the effect that more than a thousand Republicans were waiting to see him to get the details of campaign work. Major Charles Dick, who is to have charge of the Chicago headquarters, started for Chicago to-day, and the work of the campaign will be pushed from now on.

WITHDREW SOME SOLDIERS. Protests of Cleveland Citizens Heeded by the Mayor.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10.—Mayor McKisson, Director of Police Abbott and Lieutenant Colonel Whitney held a conference Saturday, and after a long consideration of the situation, Mayor McKisson gave orders that all the militia companies except one doing duty at the Brown Hoisting works should be withdrawn. This action was taken because not only during the last week no serious trouble has occurred, but because so many of the citizens in the East End are protesting against the display of armed force and consequent oppression to which they have been subjected.

Threatens to Start Non-Union. CINCINNATI, Aug. 10.—At the conference at Elwood, Ind., between President Garland of the Amalgamated association and the American Tinplate company, the reduction of 15 per cent was rejected. The scale has been signed and the company say they cannot operate under it and will start with non-union men.

Snoot at a Conductor. VANCEBURG, Ky., Aug. 10.—William Slater and Perry Morgan, two negroes of this city, boarded a freight to steal a ride to Greenup, on the Chesapeake and Ohio. At Quincy Conductor Miller put them off, when Slater drew a revolver and fired at the conductor.

Brotherhood of St. Andrew. PITTSBURG, Aug. 10.—Pittsburg is soon to have another national convention. It is the eleventh annual national assembly of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, and it will be held in this city on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 14 to 18.

A TRIPLE LYNCHING.

Not Negroes This Time, but Italians.

LOUISIANIANS TIED UP A BAD TRIO.

One Had Assassinated a Prominent Planter From Ambush—The Others Had Murdered an Old Spaniard In a Cowardly Manner.

HAHNVILLE, La., Aug. 10.—There has been a triple lynching in this town, the bodies of three Italian murderers being found swinging from the rafters of a shed near the courthouse.

One was Lorenzo Saladino and the other two were Decino Sorcoro and Angelo Marcuso. It was with great difficulty that Sheriff Orey prevented the lynching of Saladino, the first night after his murder. He spirited him away in the woods and kept him there over night, and the next day took him to the new jail at Hahnville.

A mob which had concentrated on the outskirts of the town moved on the jail and captured the negro guard. By the vigorous use of axes, with which they were well supplied, they soon demolished the jail and cell doors and took the prisoners out and executed them.

Lorenzo Saladino was charged with the murder of Jules Guenard, one of the prominent planters and merchants of that section. The murder occurred on Tuesday night at Freetown, in St. Charles parish, just a short distance from the river bank. Mr. Guenard was on the gallery with several friends playing cards, while awaiting the arrival of a boat with some freight. When the whistle of the boat blew, Mr. Guenard arose to go to meet her, and as soon as he was a few feet away from his party, a shot was fired. It was from a shotgun loaded with all sorts of missiles, and the lead struck him full in the throat, almost tearing his head from his body, killing him instantly, besides wounding Mr. Robert Esparand, a New Orleans engineer, in the arm.

The shot was fired from behind a tree at the edge of the road, and the assassin escaped through the thick growth. Suspicion pointed to the Sicilian, who bears a bad character. He had threatened Mr. Guenard's life because the latter testified against him in a suit brought because Saladino endeavored to defraud New Orleans creditors. A visit to his house revealed his shotgun, which he said had not been fired in three months. One barrel was found freshly discharged. While he was told of the charge against him, he disclaimed the killing. Later on, an old Italian woman, arrested at his place, confessed that Saladino, when he returned home that night, said: "I got him."

The crime for which the other two Italians, besides Saladino, were hung, was the wanton and cowardly murder of an old Spaniard, on the Ashton plantation, near Boutte station. The incentive to the crime in this case was that the old Spaniard was their rival in the business of gathering moss. They had frequently threatened his life.

LEGAL FIGHT THREATENED. Silver Men Oppose the Gold Democratic Ticket Name.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—If the sound-money Democrats who are to meet at Indianapolis next month put a ticket in the field a spirited legal battle may follow. The convention call holds to the party name, and it is likely that the independent ticket will be nominated under that name. If so, the Democratic national committee will take steps to force those candidates to run under another name.

At Democratic headquarters it is said that the Indianapolis conference had no right to adopt the name of the national Democratic party. The regularity of the primaries and of the national Democratic convention held at Chicago was never disputed in any way, and they say there is absolutely no warrant for a self-constituted committee to make use of the party name. It is presumed that this is done to evade the law in certain states, which will not permit irregular nominations to be placed on the state ticket. If a set of independent electors, called Democratic electors, is put in the field an injunction will be applied for to prevent the use of the party name, and a hard fight in the courts of many states will follow.

LI CAN'T STAY LONG. The Chinaman's Visit to the United States to Be Short.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The plans for Li Hung Chang's visit to the United States have been greatly curtailed. He will hurry home in haste, and it is hinted that this is due to intrigues against him in China. He will arrive in New York on Aug. 21, and will hold his first reception on Saturday, the following day, Sunday, Aug. 23, he will take an early train for Philadelphia, where he will lunch and remain for a few hours.

During the afternoon he will proceed to Washington, where he will remain a week. He will then go direct to Vancouver, B. C., where he will embark for China. He much regrets that he cannot stop at Chicago. In Washington he hopes to see all the secretaries after his audience with President Cleveland.

DEADLY BATTLE IN CUBA. The Spaniards Defeated With a Loss of Over 500.

KEY WEST, Aug. 10.—In a great battle fought near Bayamo, province of Santiago de Cuba, the Spaniards were overwhelmingly defeated, sustaining a loss of over 500 in killed, wounded and missing.

Advices received from Havana state that the battle occurred on Aug. 3, but that the Spanish authorities have given orders to suppress all details of the disaster.

It seems that Rubi, the Cuban chief, with 1800 men was encamped near Bayamo. Several convoys of provisions and ammunition for the Spanish garrison in Bayamo were taken by Rubi's forces and the Cubans finally became so aggressive that Colonel Segura determined to disperse them.

With 2,000 Spaniards, Colonel Segura marched against Rubi on Aug. 2. The column was provided with several mountain howitzer and Gatling guns. Aug. 3, the Spaniards approached the Cubans, who were strongly entrenched, and immediately gave battle. Segura led his men repeatedly against the Cubans, but the latter, protected by their entrenchments, poured in a deadly fire and easily drove back the Spaniards.

When the Spaniards were falling back after the last charge in great confusion, Rubi ordered his men to advance. Throwing aside their guns, after pouring in a last volley, the Cubans dashed upon the broken Spanish column with the machette. The charge of the Cubans swept everything before it, and the Spaniards fled in utter rout. The Spaniards were pursued almost to Bayamo, and reached the city completely exhausted. The Cubans' fearful execution with the machette from their camp almost to Bayamo the route was marked by Spaniards with heads cloven or arms lopped off. The Spanish loss in killed alone is estimated at about 200, while over 800 were wounded. The Spaniards also lost their mountain howitzers and Gatling guns, besides rifles and ammunition.

AMERICAN NEGROES ENSLAVED. Brutally Treated and Some Killed in Guatemala.

MONROE, La., Aug. 10.—Letters received in this city tell harrowing tales of suffering experienced by a colony of Louisiana negroes in Guatemala, who were induced to go there last May to work on railroads. The letters say that four of them have been killed, and that those still alive are in a condition worse than slavery, and they are anxious to return to their Louisiana homes.

Last May a number of young negroes in this vicinity and at Jacksonville contracted with agents to go to Central America to work on railroads. Flattering inducements were held out to them. They were promised high wages, easy work and splendid treatment. The letters some of them have written home indicate that they were badly deceived. Henry Wind of Jacksonville has received a letter from his brother dated at Panzoz, July 27, containing information that James Shaw, Willie Bradley, a boy named Sam, and another whose name the writer did not know, had been killed near Panzoz while attempting to escape.

The negroes employed on the railroad are guarded by soldiers of the Guatemalan government, are treated brutally, it is alleged, and receive scant rations and very small pay. Parson Ellis has received a letter from his son Ennis, in which he tells tales of great suffering.

The Weather.

Clearing in the early morning; winds shifting to southwesterly; warmer this evening.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

E. A. Albright is moving to East Palestine.

The Specialty resumed operations this morning.

The trustees of Spring Grove will meet this evening.

Township Trustee Beardmore is ill at his home on Wall street.

The Lotus club will dance in their rooms next Thursday evening.

The East Liverpool pottery base ball club challenge any pottery team in the city.

The general committee of the Labor Day celebration will meet tomorrow evening.

A child of Edward Frederick, aged 7 months, died yesterday afternoon. Interment will be made at Riverview.

A party of Phoenix boys will go to Niagara Falls next Saturday. They expect to return the following Monday.

The colored campmeeting held at Riverside park yesterday afternoon was not largely attended, owing to the extreme heat.

The open meeting held by the Rechabites Saturday evening in honor of the delegates from Zanesville, was largely attended and thoroughly enjoyed.

Mercer was knocked out of the box by Baltimore on Saturday. The game was a regular slugging match, and the Baltimore twirler shared the same fate.

Mayor Gilbert has stood out against the bicycle for a long time, but his friends now say that he has fallen, and is in secret learning to ride a wheel.

Two young pressers employed at Knowles' new end have tired of boarding house life, and rented a small house on Thompson hill, where they will keep bachelors' hall.

Half a dozen young men, a keg of beer and a few glasses made up a combination which annoyed parties driving on Lisbon road a few miles from the city, yesterday afternoon.

Constable Lyon replevined a bicycle in the hands of E. H. Laughlin, Saturday afternoon. The suit was entered by Michael King, and will be heard Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock.

The warm weather has compelled the active Turners to give up their practice, and athletics will not be again taken up until October. The class who took such a splendid part in the Steubenville meeting have had their pictures taken.

An uptown liveryman had a very sick horse Saturday night. The animal had been driven to Calcutta where it was allowed to stand near a green hay stack, and was permitted to eat all it wanted. After being driven home it required several hours hard work to save its life.

Saturday was big pay, but the excessive heat seemed to have some effect on the morals of the city. There were no fights, and Fireman Terrence was the only officer who had an opportunity to prove the majesty of the law. He dispersed a crowd of loiterers near the fire station, and ordered them to cease talking the silver question in such loud tones.

A special meeting of Trades council will be held on Wednesday evening, in order that the Labor day committees can be enlarged, the present committees finding they have more on their hands than they can look after. Some action will be taken on the arrangements as it will take a great deal of hustling to have them completed, the time being short.

AN IMPRESSION.

A wind swept sky,
The waste of moorland stretching to the west,
The sea, low moaning in a strange unrest—
A sea gull's cry.

Washed by the tide,
The rocks lie sullen in the waning light;
The foam breaks in long strips of hungry white, Dissatisfied.

Above, around,
Thunderous calm of drought that kills and soars;
Silence, in travail, waiting birth of tears—
No conscious sound.

Only the stir
Of some small insect life within the land;
The lapping of the waves upon the sand,
A corner's whirr.

Upon the hill
The gorse seems thirsting for the rain; afar,
Low poised on the horizon line, one star
Shines, lonely still.

WHAT THEY EAT IN EGYPT.

Kabob and Green Cakes Form an Egyptian Meal For Five Cents.

Margherita Arlina Hamm, a clever writer on the New York Mail and Express, says that every country has its own little delicacies, and the British soldiers who pour into Egypt undoubtedly buy from the street hawkers the green cakes, and possibly the kabobs, for which the land of the Nile is famous.

The kabob is broiled meat, but is broiled in so ridiculous a fashion as to be really funny. The peddler uses a little charcoal furnace, something like those in use by our plumbers. In it he keeps up a small but hot fire. Attached to the sides of the furnace is a lot of iron skewers. When a customer approaches, the hawk takes a small piece of meat, mutton or goat, the latter being the most popular, cuts it with a sharp knife into a long ribbon, winds it around the skewer and places it over the charcoal fire. Some of the drippings are collected, and, with a little salt or salt and spice, makes a pleasant sauce for the kabob when it is done. The cooking is very rapid. What with the heat of the fire and the thinness of the meat, it is thoroughly done in two or three minutes.

The green cakes are nothing more or less than small wheat cakes mixed with chopped green leaves of various kinds salted and baked in a slow oven. They are pale yellow, yellow gray and brownish gray, with irregular splashes of green on both the upper and lower surfaces. They are said to be very nourishing, and they are certainly very appetizing and palatable when fresh from the oven. Almost any kind of green leaf which is used as human food serves for making a green cake. The humble cabbage and the aristocratic petit pois vert, the watermelon rind and the celery top, the string bean and even the asparagus tip have been used for the purpose.

In addition to the nutritious leaf there is nearly always a flavoring leaf. The commonest is parsley, and after this comes fennel, fenugreek, sorrel, bay and laurel.

MONTEREY, Cal., Aug. 10.—The Pacific Coast Steamship company's steamer St. Paul has gone ashore at Point Pinos, and will probably be a total wreck. There were about 50 passengers on board, but all were landed safely and no lives were lost. There was a dense fog at the time, and it is supposed the captain lost his bearings.

The St. Paul ran between San Francisco and San Pedro, carrying freight and passengers, and was on her way up from San Pedro at the time of the wreck. The passengers will be sent to San Francisco by train.

Lack of Orders Closes Two Plants.

WHEELING, Aug. 10.—The Laughlin and Junction Steel Works at Mingo have closed down indefinitely, and 300 men are out of employment. The Chelsea Iron company, at New Cumberland, has offered its plant and stock for sale, and will go out of business. Dull trade is the cause in both instances.

Lost With 300 on Board.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Steamer Bloomer Girl, bound from Whitefish Bay for Milwaukee, it is rumored, was lost last evening in a storm which raged off the latter. She had an excursion party of about 200 aboard.

A Cyclist's Fast Mile.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 10.—Cyclist E. E. Anderson wheeled a mile in one minute and three seconds over a plank path. He was paced by a locomotive pulling a coach and road a wheel geared to 92.

AN IMPRESSION.

A wind swept sky,
The waste of moorland stretching to the west,
The sea, low moaning in a strange unrest—
A sea gull's cry.

Washed by the tide,
The rocks lie sullen in the waning light;
The foam breaks in long strips of hanging white, Disintegrated.

Above, around,
Thunderous calm of drought that kills and sears;
Silence, in travail, waiting birth of tears—
No conscious sound.

Only the stir
Of some small insect life within the land;
The lapping of the waves upon the sand,
A cornsnake's whirr.

Upon the hill
The gorse seems thirsting for the rain; afar,
Low poised on the horizon line, one star
Shines, lonely still.

WHAT THEY EAT IN EGYPT.

Kabob and Green Cakes Form an Epicurean Meal For Five Cents.

Margherita Arlina Hamm, a clever writer on the New York Mail and Express, says that every country has its own little delicacies, and the British soldiers who pour into Egypt undoubtedly buy from the street hawkers the green cakes, and possibly the kabobs, for which the land of the Nile is famous.

The kabob is broiled meat, but is broiled in so ridiculous a fashion as to be really funny. The peddler uses a little charcoal furnace, something like those in use by our plumbers. In it he keeps up a small but hot fire. Attached to the side of the furnace is a lot of iron skewers. When a customer approaches, the hawkler takes a small piece of meat, mutton or goat, the latter being the most popular, cuts it with a sharp knife into a long ribbon, winds it around the skewer and places it over the charcoal fire. Some of the drippings are collected, and, with a little salt or salt and spice, makes a pleasant sauce for the kabob when it is done. The cooking is very rapid. What with the heat of the fire and the thinness of the meat, it is thoroughly done in two or three minutes.

The green cakes are nothing more or less than small wheat cakes mixed with chopped green leaves of various kinds salted and baked in a slow oven. They are pale yellow, yellow gray and brownish gray, with irregular splashes of green on both the upper and lower surfaces. They are said to be very nourishing, and they are certainly very appetizing and palatable when fresh from the oven. Almost any kind of green leaf which is used as human food serves for making a green cake. The humble cabbage and the aristocratic petit pois vert, the watermelon rind and the celery top, the string bean and even the asparagus tip have been used for the purpose.

In addition to the nutritious leaf there is nearly always a flavoring leaf. The commonest is parsley, and after this comes fennel, fenugreek, sorrel, bay and laurel.

A Show Truly Moral.

The great John Robinson and Franklin Bros., enormous shows combined are announced to appear at East Liverpool Tuesday in all their vast entirety, Aug. 11, and for one day only, giving two complete performances, afternoon and evening. All of our exchanges speak in the highest terms of this great amusement enterprise, and the many tough hangers-on, which are so frequently found with large shows, are made conspicuous by their absence. There is not a game of chance of any kind permitted on or around the grounds. All the attaches are gentlemen, and there is not a loud or profane word spoken.

Excursions to Cleveland.

One fare for the round trip excursion tickets to Cleveland, will be sold Tuesday, Aug. 11 and Wednesday, Sept. 9 via Pennsylvania lines for the centennial celebration. Return trip must be made through to original starting point within four days, including date of sale. The arrangements for the centennial celebration at Cleveland have been elaborately prepared; the features are varied, and typical of a century's growth of Ohio's thriving and most populous city on the shore of Lake Erie.

WITH A BARREL OF OYSTERS.

How a Great Russian Banker Bought His Freedom From Serfdom.

One of the best known banking houses of St. Petersburg and the one to which most American visitors to Russia carry letters of credit is that of Messrs. Shalounine & Sons, the founder of which, father of the present head of the firm, owed his liberation from serfdom, 15 years before the decree of emancipation, to a barrel of oysters. Old Shalounine was a serf belonging to Count Sheremetieff, one of the wealthiest nobles in Russia. He had frequently entreated the count to grant him his freedom, offering him as much as $500,000 for the boon. But money was no object to the count, and it gratified his pride to feel that one of the leading bankers of the empire was one of his serfs, unable to marry either his sons or his daughters without his master's consent. Moreover, as serf, the banker was liable to have his money seized and confiscated any moment by the count, since everything that belonged to a serf, including his wife, children and property, belonged ipso facto to his master.

One day Shalounine, who had just that very morning returned to the capital from Odessa, called at the Sheremetieff palace for the purpose of reporting his arrival, as in duty bound to his owner. He had brought with him a barrel of delicious Crimean oysters for presentation to the count, but left them in his carriage at the palace door until he should have obtained his master's intimation that his gift was acceptable.

On entering the presence of the count the banker found him surrounded by a party of guests and engaged in berating his chief butler for neglecting to provide oysters for the breakfast to which they were about to sit down. The butler was explaining to the count that there were no oysters to be got in the capital at that moment for love or money. Catching sight of the serf banker the count exclaimed:

"Oh, it is thou again. Thou art come to poster me once more for thy liberation! Thou knowest that it is useless. I should not know what to do with thy money. But stay, I will tell thee something. Get me some oysters for my breakfast and thou shalt have thy freedom!"

Shalounine bowed low, left the room, fetched the small barrel of oysters which he had left in his carriage at the door, and laid it at the feet of his master.

As soon as the barrel had been opened the count called for a pen and paper, wrote out a declaration emancipating both the banker and his family from serfdom, and then, bowing courteously to the man who but a moment before had been his slave, exclaimed, "And, now, my dear Mr. Shalounine—will you give us the pleasure of your company at breakfast?"—New York Tribune.

Where Was He?

The Forfarshire lairds of a remote day were wont to go weekly to great Dundee, not so great then, to dine early, but too well, and ride away home, not in every case very fit for the saddle. The road ran eastward for some miles on a height above the Tay, a steep grassy slope down to the Firth. One of the old gentlemen (they were gentlemen) rolled off his horse and rolled away down the declivity. The water at the edge was only a few inches deep at that season of the tide, and there he lay. By and by some one remarked that the laird's saddle was empty, though his horse was trotting on with the others. So the party turned back, looking for the missing man, and exclaiming: "Faar are ye, Balnawiggin? Faar are ye?" At length a voice was heard, coming from far below. "The Lord knows faar I am. But I canna be in hell, for here's water!"—Longman's Magazine.

An Example.

"You will kindly give us an example of the general law of averages, Mr. Peabody," said the professor of mathematics, after his lecture on the doctrine of chances.

"Um—why—there's the speed of the telegraph, and the lack of it in the messenger who delivers it," said Peabody, in a vague, hesitating way.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

ON THE BRIDGE.

Perfection lies
In sweetheart's eyes;
Her cheeks would shame a rose.
I love her hair,
But I can't bear
The bridge on sweetheart's nose.

It indicates
Her noble traits,
And strength of purpose shows.
But rivals scorn
And others mourn
The bridge on sweetheart's nose.

If I should feign
A deep disdain
For her, do you suppose
That tears of hate
Would devastate
The bridge on sweetheart's nose?

I think instead
(You see I dread
To add to sweetheart's woes)
I'll venture this:
I'll fondly kiss
The bridge on sweetheart's nose.

And warmly praise
Her gracious ways
And boast my scorn for those
Who worship not
That beauty spot—
The bridge on sweetheart's nose.

THE LOST WAS FOUND.

The House Number Looked Strange Because the Transom Was Tipped.

If any one had told him he was drunk, he would not have resented it, but would have made an effort to maintain his equilibrium and dignity long enough to explain that he was only a little oozy woozy. He realized that he lived at 206 Irvington street, and that his residence was on the right hand side as he wobbled along homeward. The uncertain light of early dawn, combined with the blur in his eyes, rendered it necessary for him to stop in front of every house and gravely brace himself against the railings until he could focus his eyesight on the number.

Finally he identified his house, but after arguing with himself for a couple of minutes he came to the conclusion that he was just too oozy enough to make mistakes possible, so to be absolutely certain he balanced himself against the front fence and studied the number on the transom. Instead of 206 he saw 509. He rubbed his eyes and looked again, but the number had not changed. It was still 509. Then he wondered how it happened that he had got on the wrong side of the street and three blocks too far out, made a zigzag across the street and started back, but before he had walked three blocks he came to the end of the street.

The weary pilgrim was bewildered. He couldn't understand it, but getting his directions shaped his course up the street on the right side and kept on until he came to 509 again. He studied it from every possible point of view, even trying to stand on his head to read it, but it perversely remained 509.

Utterly bewildered, he sat down on the steps and waited till a policeman came along.

"I'm losht," he explained. "I want-er go ter 206 Irvington street."

"This is the place, right here," declared the officer.

"Can't be. This is 509."

"No, it ain't. It's 206, but the transom is turned over."

The lost was found.—San Francisco Post.

Ben Wade on Davis.

When Ben Wade of Ohio was the presiding officer of the senate, he used occasionally to call some senator to take the chair and relieve himself by walking up and down in the lobby which runs back of the senate chamber. Once while thus walking he was overtaken by a certain carpetbag senator from one of the southern states, who occupied the identical chair that Jefferson Davis had used while a member of the senate. Walking along by the side of Wade, he rubbed his back wearily and said: "Wade, these senate chairs are the most uncomfortable things I ever saw. My back is positively blistered from sitting in mine." Wade looked at him for a moment, and, as he turned away, muttered, "Davis left enough brains in the seat of that chair to blister the backs of two or three such men as you are."—San Francisco Argonaut.

When They Began to Write.

It is astonishing the number of successful writers who were well on in years before they even thought of adopting literature as a profession. Thomas Hardy was 31 before he began to turn his attention to story telling. George Eliot was 40 before she wrote a line of fiction, having no faith in her powers as a story teller. Barry Cornwall was 35 before he thought of writing verse. Jules Verne was 35 before he wrote his first story. Rider Haggard started at 26; Mr. Barrie and Conan Doyle at 27; Grant Allen at 29, and Sir Walter Besant and Mr. G. Manville Fenn at 30. George Meredith was nearly 33 when he began to write stories in his own peculiar style.—New York World.

Picked Up in the East End By Our Representative.

Our readers are indirectly indebted to Mr. Elmer Stevenson for the following East End items: In discussing some particulars about the new school board and the East Liverpool potters' union with our representative he incidentally mentioned that he had been under the weather with a sore back, but had got over it, and that if our "scribe" wanted the minute details of a remarkable case he ought to call on Mrs. Caroline White, of 335 Railroad street. Hither he wended his way and gleaned from that lady the following: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills," she says, "and found great relief in their use. My back has ached so long that I have forgotten when I was first troubled. I am now 70 years of age, and had almost given up all hope of ever being helped. I have taken medicines but they did not prove very beneficial; my back would ache just the same in the region of the kidneys and get stiff and lame when sitting long or lying in bed. Sharp twinges of pain and other symptoms convinced me that my kidneys were out of order. Always on the lookout for anything that might bring relief, when I heard Doan's Kidney Pills so highly spoken of I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy. After using them for a short time I could plainly notice the good effects they were causing. I continued using them for some time longer and gradually but surely improved. I found Doan's Kidney Pills a splendid remedy and advise others to try them, feeling confident if they do they will have no cause to regret it. I know of a number of people here in the East End that swear by Doan's Kidney Pills."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50. Sent by mail on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

HARD'S BIG STORE

THIS IS CLEANING UP TIME WITH US.

We are getting shaped up for fall, and are clearing out odds and ends. These odds and ends are not old stuff, but are articles of which we have broken lots or short ends.

They are goods which are as well suited to your purpose as though we had plenty more, so it will pay you to take advantage of the reduced prices we are making.

Odd pieces and Remnants of Mattings are being sold at a tithe of their real value.

If you want to cover a floor you can do so cheaper and better with Matting than anything else. When you can buy enough for a small room for $1.50, you shouldn't leave your floor bare.

You can also use to good advantage the small remnants of 2 to 7 yards which are almost given away. Just the stuff for Porch Rugs this rainy weather.

Odd Chairs of Broken Sets.

If you can use one, two, or three chairs, now is the chance to get them. We have a great many 50c, 75c and $1.00 chairs, broken sets, which you can buy at 30c, 55c and 80c each.

LOUNGES.—We have just received another lot of those cheap Lounges at $5.25 each.

A Show Truly Moral.

The great John Robinson and Franklin Bros., enormous shows combined are announced to appear at East Liverpool Tuesday in all their vast entirety, Aug. 11, and for one day only, giving two complete performances, afternoon and evening. All of our exchanges speak in the highest terms of this great amusement enterprise, and the many tough hangers-on, which are so frequently found with large shows, are made conspicuous by their absence. There is not a game of chance of any kind permitted on or around the grounds. All the attaches are gentlemen, and there is not a loud or profane word spoken.

Excursions to Cleveland.

One fare for the round trip excursion tickets to Cleveland, will be sold Tuesday, Aug. 11 and Wednesday, Sept. 9 via Pennsylvania lines for the centennial celebration. The arrangements for the centennial celebration at Cleveland have been elaborately prepared; the features are varied, and typical of a century's growth of Ohio's thriving and most populous city on the shore of Lake Erie.

WITH A BARREL OF OYSTERS.

How a Great Russian Banker Bought His Freedom From Serfdom.

One of the best known banking houses of St. Petersburg and the one to which most American visitors to Russia carry letters of credit is that of Messrs. Shalounine & Sons, the founder of which, father of the present head of the firm, owed his liberation from serfdom, 15 years before the decree of emancipation, to a barrel of oysters. Old Shalounine was a serf belonging to Count Sheremetieff, one of the wealthiest nobles in Russia. He had frequently entreated the count to grant him his freedom, offering him as much as $500,000 for the boon. But money was no object to the count, and it gratified his pride to feel that one of the leading bankers of the empire was one of his serfs, unable to marry either his sons or his daughters without his master's consent. Moreover, as serf, the banker was liable to have his money seized and confiscated any moment by the count, since everything that belonged to a serf, including his wife, children and property, belonged ipso facto to his master.

One day Shalounine, who had just that very morning returned to the capital from Odessa, called at the Sheremetieff palace for the purpose of reporting his arrival, as in duty bound to his owner. He had brought with him a barrel of delicious Crimean oysters for presentation to the count, but left them in his carriage at the palace door until he should have obtained his master's intimation that his gift was acceptable.

On entering the presence of the count the banker found him surrounded by a party of guests and engaged in berating his chief butler for neglecting to provide oysters for the breakfast to which they were about to sit down. The butler was explaining to the count that there were no oysters to be got in the capital at that moment for love or money. Catching sight of the serf banker the count exclaimed:

"Oh, it is thou again. Thou art come to poster me once more for thy liberation! Thou knowest that to do with thy money. But stay, I will tell thee something. Get me some oysters for my breakfast and thou shalt have thy freedom!"

Shalounine bowed low, left the room, fetched the small barrel of oysters which he had left in his carriage at the door, and laid it at the feet of his master. As soon as the barrel had been opened the count called for a pen and paper, wrote out a declaration emancipating both the banker and his family from serfdom, and then, bowing courteously to the man who but a moment before had been his slave, exclaimed, "And now, my dear Mr. Shalounine—will you give us the pleasure of your company at breakfast?"—New York Tribune.

Where Was He?

The Forfarshire lads of a remote day were wont to go weekly to great Dundee, not so great then, to dine early, but too well, and ride away home, not in every case very fit for the saddle. The road ran eastward for some miles on a height above the Tay, a steep grassy slope down to the Firth. One of the old gentlemen (they were gentlemen) rolled off his horse and rolled away down the declivity. The water at the edge was only a few inches deep at that season of the tide, and there he lay. By and by some one remarked that the laird's saddle was empty, though his horse was trotting on with the others. So the party turned back, looking for the missing man, and exclaiming: "Faar are ye, Balnawiggin? Faar are ye?" At length a voice was heard, coming from far below. "The Lord knows faar I am. But I cannae be in hell, for here's water!"—Longman's Magazine.

An Example.

"You will kindly give us an example of the general law of averages, Mr. Peabody," said the professor of mathematics, after his lecture on the doctrine of chances.

"Um—why—there's the speed of the telegraph, and the lack of it in the messenger who delivers it," said Peabody, in a vague, hesitating way.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

ON THE BRIDGE.

Perfection lies
In sweetheart's eyes;
Her cheeks would shame a rose.
But I can't bear
The bridge on sweetheart's nose.

It indicates
Her noble traits,
And strength of purpose shows.
But rivals scorn
And others mourn
The bridge on sweetheart's nose.

If I should feign
A deep disdain
For her, do you suppose
That tears of hate
Would devastate
The bridge on sweetheart's nose?

I think instead
I see I dread
To add to sweetheart's woes
I'll venture this:
I'll fondly kiss
The bridge on sweetheart's nose.

And warmly praise
Her gracious ways
And boast my scorn for those
Who worship not
That beauty spot—
The bridge on sweetheart's nose.

THE LOST WAS FOUND.

The House Number Looked Strange Because the Transom Was Tipped.

If any one had told him he was drunk, he would not have resented it, but would have made an effort to maintain his equilibrium and dignity long enough to explain that he was only a little oozy woozy. He realized that he lived at 206 Irvington street, and that his residence was on the right hand side as he wobbled along homeward. The uncertain light of early dawn, combined with the blur in his eyes, rendered it necessary for him to stop in front of every house and gravely brace himself against the railings until he could focus his eyesight on the number.

Finally he identified his house, but after arguing with himself for a couple of minutes he came to the conclusion that he was just woozy enough to make mistakes possible, so to be absolutely certain he balanced himself against the front fence and studied the number on the transom. Instead of 206 he saw 509. He rubbed his eyes and looked again, but the number had not changed. It was still 509. Then he wondered how it happened that he had got on the wrong side of the street and three blocks too far out, made a zigzag across the street and started back, but before he had walked three blocks he came to the end of the street.

The weary pilgrim was bewildered. He couldn't understand it, but getting his directions shaped his course up the street on the right side and kept on until he came to 509 again. He studied it from every possible point of view, even trying to stand on his head to read it, but it perversely remained 509.

Utterly bewildered, he sat down on the steps and waited till a policeman came along.

"I'm losht," he explained. "I want to go to 206 Irvington street."

"This is the place, right here," declared the officer.

"Can't be. This is 509."

"No, it ain't. It's 206, but the transom is turned over."

The lost was found.—San Francisco Post.

Ben Wade on Davis.

When Ben Wade of Ohio was the presiding officer of the senate, he used occasionally to call some senator to take the chair and relieve himself by walking up and down in the lobby which runs back of the senate chamber. Once while thus walking he was overtaken by a certain carpetbag senator from one of the southern states, who occupied the identical chair that Jefferson Davis had used while a member of the senate.

Walking along by the side of Wade, he rubbed his back wearily and said: "Wade, these senate chairs are the most uncomfortable things I ever saw. My back is positively blistered from sitting in mine."

Wade looked at him for a moment, and, as he turned away, muttered, "Davis left enough brains in the seat of that chair to blister the backs of two or three such men as you are."

HARD'S BIG STORE

THIS IS CLEANING UP TIME WITH US.

We are getting shaped up for fall, and are clearing out odds and ends. These odds and ends are not old stuff, but are articles of which we have broken lots or short ends.

They are goods which are as well suited to your purpose as though we had plenty more, so it will pay you to take advantage of the reduced prices we are making.

Odd pieces and Remnants of Mat-tings are being sold at a tithe of their real value.

If you want to cover a floor you can do so cheaper and better with Matting than anything else. When you can buy enough for a small room for $1.50, you shouldn't leave your floor bare.

You can also use to good advantage the small remnants of 2 to 7 yards which are almost given away. Just the stuff for Porch Rugs this rainy weather.

Odd Chairs of Broken Sets.

If you can use one, two, or three chairs, now is the chance to get them. We have a great many 50c, 75c and $1.00 chairs, broken sets, which you can buy at 30c, 55c and 80c each.

LOUNGES.—We have just received another lot of those cheap Lounges at $5.25 each.
